Hi David,

Please send me a copy of the emails you receive so I know which neighbors to reach out to. I've spoken with 2 neighbors, 1 on the north and 1 on the south.

If you review my open hours, they are set within Seattle city ordinance. Seattle quiet hours in Seattle are 7am to 10pm weekdays, and 9am - 10pm weekends. Both neighbors are up by 7am and I have never stayed open after 9-9:30. (I close by sunset and open after sunrise, and I have zero lights in my yard).

The neighbor on the north, who I will refer to as Mike, wants me to shut down because his dog Otis barks too much throughout the day when he is allowed to be outside. I was outside in my yard last night at 8:30 and Mike (owner) was yelling at Otis to be quiet. Otis barks all day at dog walkers, FedEx/Amazon delivery drivers, and me! It's definitely annoying!

I texted Mike today, and I will do so continuously, before dogs arrive. No reply from him yet. And Nichole, a regular guest, has asked Mike for his number and will do the same before each of her visits. He agreed to her to accept such messages.

Robin has never answered any text message that I have sent to her, so I stopped texting her.

Bella, dog on the south side, is barking as I type this message to you. She's barking at the garbage truck! Again, an annoying yipe. The owner, Lisa, never tells Bella to be quiet.

Both neighbors have lots of different noises that bother me. I have never complained.

Hi Rockie - some of your neighbors have reached out to us to ask for some changes to your spot. It is part of our host standards to get along with neighbors. We generally ask for neighbors and hosts to resolve issues among themselves, but if they can't resolve them then the neighbors can reach out to us to resolve them. It's really important for Sniffspot that we are friendly to neighbors, otherwise we may get more into issues like Airbnb where neighborhoods hate Airbnb.

These are the requests:

- Work constructively with neighbor requests - if they reach out with concerns then work with them and resolve them
- Set a rule that guest dogs not excessively bark
- Set hours from 9AM - 8PM
- Give neighbors notice of visits so they can plan nap time - we are releasing a calendar integration feature, so perhaps you could have a shared calendar.
- Limit to 3 dogs at a time.
- Add to your listing that your spot works best for small (up to 21 lbs.).
- Add to your listing that neighbor dogs may very well likely be outside and they should not assume that they are inside.

I would ask that you make these changes to your spot. Please confirm when you have made these changes and let me know if you have any questions or concerns. Thank you for making the world a more dog friendly place!

Hi Rockie - these are the neighbors that emailed: Lisa Johnson, Rene Dufour, Mike Daversa, Robin McNett, Ryan Leyva, Michelle Leyva.

Do you need contact emails for them as well? I can ask them if they are OK passing along their contact information to you. Alternatively, would you be OK passing along your contact information to them?

The unfortunate thing about how we are set up is, if a neighbor insists on a spot being closed, we will need to close it. That is our policy because we need to maintain a community friendly platform. I really hope you can resolve this with them. The below are their initial requests, but it seems like some of them just want your spot to be closed at this point. I am really sorry that this situation is happening because I would hate to lose you as a host - you are one of our best hosts!

Hi Rockie - I am sorry to say that it has come to my attention that your neighbor's dog and a guest dog may have made contact through, under or over your fence. If the fencing you have is such that dogs can make contact through it and neighbor dogs are against the fence, this is not safe for a spot. Safety is the most important thing for a Sniffspot. I need to turn off your spot until this safety issue can be addressed. I would ask for a secure fence with no gaps where contact can be made with outside dogs (through, below or above) be installed. I am really sorry to have to pause your spot, but this is an essential safety issue for us. Please let me know if you have any questions or issues.

Hello David,

Did Mike share the incident # with you? Of his contact with the police on Thursday night? (July 22nd).

After his threat that he was going to trespass into my yard and remove my fence, my family and friends and I left the fence partially set up and I have not touched it all weekend.

I ordered another fence which will be put up tomorrow - without touching the fence that he is claiming is his.

Also, can you please send me a copy of the contract I signed with sniffspot?

Thank you,
Rockie

Wow, I am so sorry to hear all of that. What a nighare. I always got really bad vibes from the guy next to you and his wife. I'm not surprised at all that he's an ex military and gun owning type, I figured as much just by his vibes if you know what I mean. Both him and his wife were always miserable assholes every time I did see them. I hope you're able to stay safe and comfortable in your own property.

They don't like my SS, and Mike yells, and swears, at Otis - which I don't like. But, I try to always keep a smile on my face. And, hope that all of my guests and their pups have a fabulous time!

Thank you for sharing!

Hi Rockie

Just had a strange interaction with your neighbor. Otis was outside when we arrive and was seemingly playful barking and running up and down the fence, then his tone changed and his bark become much more aggressive. The wife came out to get Otis and the husband walk over to me looked at my dog and said "get the fuck away from me or I will shoot you" and took some photos or video of Pippin.

Pretty uncomfortable to be threatened like that on our very first Sniffspot experience.

11:25 AM

OMG! This is definitely not right. Are you 100% sure that you heard him say exactly that? I'm not home to speak with him, but I will contact him. What time during your visit did this happen? I want you to know that I am very sorry. I will have Sniffspot credit you. And I will find out why this happened.

Rockie

11:33 AM

100% positive. He was looking directly at me and I was standing approximately 15' away from him. I am here with a friend who was near the entrance and she also heard it. They were standing in the window watching us from the moment we arrived. No credit necessary. Just sad your neighbor is a jerk. Pippin is a big pretty dog and your neighbor was absolutely trying to intimidate us. 11:10-11:15. We aren't letting him run us off.

11:39 AM

Amy, I'm not sure how you feel about this, but when someone says they are going to shoot you, you need to call the police. And it's great that you have a friend to be a witness. I have reported this to David (Sniffspot owner) but I might not hear back until Monday. You are at the top of my list. This type of occurrence cannot be ignored.

12:20 PM

We definitely should have called the police, we were just in shock.

1:02 PM

Just a heads up, and I am so sorry about this, I did go ahead and file a police report about this. Threats and intimidation are just so wrong, he needs to understand that.

I wanted to let you know that we really love your sniff spot. Your neighbors were out last time we visited and today, they stated that the sniff spot is disruptive to the neighborhood and their dog. We are very mindful to be quiet when we're there and our dogs don't bark, they had the music up loud today and I don't want this situation to affect having this spot be available. Let me know if there's anything we can do when we visit to make it a better situation for everyone. Thanks again!

Good morning Mike. Currently I have 2 guests today – 1 at 10 and that other at noon. Thanks again for allowing me to send you messages. 🙌 Have a nice day!

Hi Raquel. I appreciate you sending updates on when you'll have clients but it's not necessary. Unfortunately Sniffspot is not something that I support in this neighborhood. Otis was attacked by a dog on your property from under our fence and cut up pretty bad. I am going to file an incident report with sniff spot. I am open to discuss if you would like.

Jul 13, 9:04 AM

Never discussed by Daversa. No evidence of any attack, including by Susan who was at the residence at the time. No vet bill, cone, pictures. Otis is always the aggressor.

Chief Complaint

Patient presents with

- Bleeding/Bruising
bruising on arms
- Arm Pain
bilateral arm pain

History of Present Illness:

Raquel Reynolds presents to clinic for evaluation of injuries that occurred during an altercation with her sister three days ago. She and her sister are in a longstanding struggle at her home where she has been unable to evict her sister from her home. She has had to move out of the home due to her sister's volatile behavior. Three days ago she notes that she and her sister were disagreeing about a box when her sister physically attacked her, coming at her throat with a forearm and then grabbing her wrist. Raquel screamed for her neighbors to call the police while they retreated into their homes. When the police arrived, her sister claimed that she had been physically attacked and Raquel was taken to jail in handcuffs. She spent one night in jail with no food and without her medications. She would like documentation of her injuries. She has an upcoming appointment with behavioral health and has been in communication with her attorney.

To Whom It May Concern,

I am a clinical psychologist, writing on behalf of my patient, Raquel Reynolds, at her request. I have seen Raquel Reynolds for weekly psychotherapy, beginning in November of 2015. Raquel is a low functioning individual with some cognitive impairment, likely related to her longstanding diagnosis of epilepsy. Raquel has particular trouble prioritizing her needs and effectively advocating for herself. Raquel gets caught up in minor details and doesn't clearly recognize the "big picture." She has a longstanding difficulty holding a job. In February 2020, Raquel experience a bad fall during a seizure which resulted in a serious neck injury requiring surgery (ACDF). Her C5-C6 unstable fractured neck/ left vertebral artery dissection have resulted in chronic pain and difficulty with movement and strength.

A primary issue addressed in treatment has been the problem of Raquel's sister, Maria, squatting in her home. This has been the case since approximately June of 2017. Maria has never paid rent or utilities and has refused to move out. Raquel has been using her alimony to pay her mortgage. Alimony will end mid-November 2020, at which time Raquel has no way to make the mortgage payments.

Raquel left her home to live with her elderly parents, due to intimidation and fear of her sister. Until recently, Raquel has experienced pressure from her parents to avoid using social service or legal support to help remove her sister from her home. Her parents have expressed concern that if Maria leaves Raquel's home, she will move in with them. Maria living with her parents in the past has resulted in conflict between Maria and her parents, and Maria and her brother Rick (who also lives with their parents). In the past 3 years, Raquel had been advised by me, a social worker in private practice, a priest, and representatives from social service to go to the police and court system for assistance in removing Maria from her home. She has been unwilling to advocate for herself in this way. She has tried to convince her sister to leave through requests and reason; her sister's response has been refusal to engage in conversation, intimidation, and bullying tactics. Raquel has reported threats made by Maria to both Raquel and her parents, to have Raquel put into jail if she enters her own home, and to burn down her home. Raquel and her parents are afraid of Maria.

Regarding the incident precipitating the request for a protection order, Raquel reported the following: Raquel, and her brother, Rick, had gone to her home to sort out and remove unwanted items from her basement. Raquel asked for Rick's help in moving items due to her hand and arm pain and general weakness. Maria became upset that Raquel had remove a small empty box and came outside to confront her. Raquel became frightened, texted Rick (who was walking home), and called both her mother and 911. There was an altercation in which Maria put her arm against Raquel's neck and stepped on her phone. Raquel, still recovering from her broken neck and experiencing hand and arm pain, felt hurt and afraid. The police arrived. Raquel made it clear that she did not want Maria arrested, due to Maria's prior arrest record. Raquel was then arrested without explanation. She spent the night in jail, without her epilepsy medication or food that met her dietary restrictions, and was then released the next day. Raquel is now mistrustful and fearful of the police.

Raquel desires to live in her own home, free from contact or harassment from Maria. In order to continue mortgage payments, she plans to rent a bedroom in her home and operate her dog play area in her yard. I write this statement with the hope that the court will assist Raquel in removing Maria from her home and will protect Raquel from further intimidation or harm from Maria.

Sincerely,

DivestSPD Successfully Identifies Six Seattle Police Officers Who Attended Deadly Capitol Riot.

As hundreds of rioters who breached the Capitol are being identified by the authorities and their communities, the Associated Press reported in January that over 30 police officers are under investigation for their presence at former President Trump's "Stop the Steal" rally.

The rally, a bare-faced attempt to subvert an electorate that decisively rejected Trump in the November 2020 election, caused \$30 million in property damage. By the time the attack was over, scores were injured, and five people were killed, including one police officer.

DivestSPD, a local organization dedicated to pressuring corporations and businesses to cut ties with the Seattle Police Foundation, has successfully identified six officers who attended the deadly riot. DivestSPD already discovered two, but the department and police union successfully hid the other four officer's identities until now. All six officers are still employed by the department, facing an internal investigation.

Six confirmed rioters make Seattle home to the largest identified group of officers from any police department in the nation to be present in DC on January 6. This reality has renewed a pain felt by members of this community, whose protesting for Black lives last summer was repeatedly met with the widespread use of teargas and indiscriminate shows of force from the department, despite a city ban on the former and public outrage to the latter.

The department has also been under a federal consent decree since 2012 for misconduct and has seen three police chiefs since then. In April, Acting Chief Adrian Diaz supported his officer's in their First Amendment expressions at the Capitol, "but the violent events that unfolded “were unlawful and resulted in the death of another police officer.”. Diaz vowed to allow an investigation to play out before commenting further on the situation.

Thanks to community pressure and investigation by DivestSPD, these officer’s identities are now finally revealed to the community they work in. The Seattle Police Officer’s Guild (SPOG) has, up until this point, successfully sued to keep the officer’s identities a secret. The union is headed by far-right President Mike Solan, who falsely blamed antifa and Black Lives Matter for the Capitol riot, engages in smear campaigns against local activists, and indulges online agitator Andy Ngo on his “Hold the Line” podcast.

Between SPOG’s litigious stalling, a slow-moving investigation by Seattle’s Office of Police Accountability (OPA), and no “good cops” coming forward with their coworker’s identities, the officer’s actions at the Capitol are still unknown to the public. Unsurprisingly, a majority of the six officers have lengthy rap sheets of civilian abuse.

Here are the specifics.
